

The Virginian-Pilot

PilotOnline.com

How to find out where to go during Norfolk's Restaurant Week

Jan 12, 2018

Judy Cowling

Judy Cowling writes about food and restaurants for The Virginian-Pilot.

L. Todd Spencer | The Virginian-Pilot
Gershwin's, photographed Saturday night Oct. 11, 2014.

Gas up your car and get out your calendar, because you are going to have eight days to enjoy Downtown Norfolk Restaurant Week, which runs Jan. 14 - 21.

Experience 24 of Norfolk's best for prix fixe, multi-course lunches or brunches for $12 and dinners for $25 or $35. From Brick Anchor Brew-House to The Barrel Room, Gershwin's to Grain, and Voila! to Vintage Kitchen there's bound to be something for everyone.

Here's how to find out who offers what: Visit bit.ly/norrestweek and click on the column for lunch or dinner of the restaurant you want to visit. The menu will pop up and you can view all the offerings before you decide.

You might not want to choose just one, so make dates to catch up with friends and find out what they did to stay sane during all the snow.

My guess is everyone will be itching to get out of the house, so you might meet some new friends too.

For more information, contact the Downtown Norfolk Council at 757-623-1757 or visit DowntownNorfolk.org.